Message	The proposed city operating fee is unfair because a single person residing alone would be required to pay the same amount as a living unit where multiple people live (ie a family of 4, 4 roommates, etc). The fee should be based on the number of people who reside in a living unit (house, apartment, condo) and not be a flat rate on a living unit. Additionally it doesn't appear to be structure in a way that would allow it to be deductible on a tax return like property tax is.
