Interests & Experiences

What do you feel you can contribute as a board or commission member?

With over a decade of architectural practice in Salem and a career approaching 20 years that spans multiple states and project types, including commercial, residential, healthcare, and educational projects, I would bring a well-rounded and practical perspective to helping review Historic applications. In addition, I focused on historic preservation and adaptive reuse as a graduate student and took several preservation-focused classes, culminating in my thesis “The Densification of Historic Districts,” which focused on the Cast Iron District in New York City.

Question applies to Historic Landmarks Commission

In your opinion, why is historic preservation important for the city of Salem?

Historic landmarks are a physical representation of Salem as it used to be, creating a physical catalogue that documents to not only provide a record of a time and place, but also acts as a manifestation of how things have changed over time, though comparison. Further, historic buildings have inherent qualities, hard-earned through the gauntlet of time, that enhance the beauty and sense of place for our City.
