Subject: Petition in Support of a Climate Action Plan for Salem for the June 26, 2017, City Council Meeting

[City Recorder: Please enter this into the record and include with staff reports concerning the City of Salem Strategic Planning Initiative agenda item at the June 26, 2017, City Council meeting .]

Dear Salem City Council:

On behalf of 350 Salem OR, we thank you for your work to date on the Strategic Planning Initiative.

We are encouraged by the goals you are developing for smarter growth, affordable housing, solutions to the homelessness crisis and better transit service. We ask that you also set a goal for a Climate Action Plan for Salem.

Salem is the only major city in Oregon that does not have one, or is working on one. As Oregon's capital city we need to be a leader in measuring and planning to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions. In addition to reducing greenhouse gas emissions, implementing a Climate Action Plan has the potential to lower our energy costs, reduce water and other air pollution, revitalize our downtown and support local economic development. For the sake of our children and our grandchildren, we ask that you do the right thing and include a Climate Action Plan among your strategic planning goals.

Signatures and comments from 212 residents of Salem ...

|---------------------|---|
| Ken Adams | It is long overdue and we need to get started as soon as possible. |
| Bambi Anderson | I love life and my planet! |
| Vernadene Anderson | I believe that it is the strength of the city level to make changes that improve the quality of its citizens' lives |
| Frances Gall Anglin | Survival of the Species! Concern for our children and grandchildren, et al. Please! Thank you! |
| Mary Ann Baclawski | |
| L. Baehr | |
| Nan Baker-Krofft | |
| Barbara Balowitz | |
| Margaret Banks | We need to do our part to protect and heal our home. |
| Carol Baumann | We have a responsibility for the future. |
| David Beaton | The most crucial task facing Americans in the next 3-4 decades will be a conversion to an all-renewable energy economy/society. This will entail enormous changes to adapt to climate limitations, including relocating energy, food and goods production to the local level. |
| Geneva Bensman | I'm committed to reducing destructive human impacts on our planet. |
| Peter Bergel | Climate change is the largest national security threat we face today. Since our federal |

| | |
|-------------------------|--|
| | government will provide no leadership in addressing it, we MUST do it ourselves. |
| Ardella Berry-Eddings | I have a grandson to whom I would like to leave a healthy planet. |
| Linda Bierly | Salem needs a Climate Action Plan for the health of its citizens and to fulfill our responsibility to the health of the planet. |
| Wendi Binford | |
| Sharlee Blackwell | |
| Carmen Blakely | |
| Karen Bledsoe | Climate change is the biggest threat to national security that we've ever faced. We CAN slow it down if we act now. |
| Erin Boers | |
| April Brenden-Locke | I am proud to call Salem home. As a fourth-generation Oregonian, I have seen the effects of climate change on my family's farm east of Salem. I urge our city leaders to adopt a climate action plan that will allow us to face this issue without waiting for others to act. A climate action plan will help us show the world who we are--a city that leads, adapts and innovates in the face of a serious and avoidable threat. |
| Caroline Bridges | |
| Pablo Brito | I care about climate change and the city should take action both at the micro and macro level to help with global warming. Examples like better public trans, more bike lanes, more sidewalks, more trees in areas where we do not have a lot of trees. Small steps add up. |
| Valerie Brooks | |
| Mary Burch | |
| Sharon Burge | |
| Cindy Burgess | Because our children and grandchildren may not be able to live on this planet by the mid to late century. |
| Roberta Cade | |
| Susan Callahan | |
| Neal Campbell | Because we need to have it. |
| Lynn Cardiff | |
| Katherine Carey | |
| Gretchen Carnaby | There is NO Planet B. |
| Justin Castillo | |
| Diane Chavez | We need climate action for my grandchildren and all of Salem's children. |
| Rebecca Coleman Lerback | Climate change is the single most important issue facing humanity. Local action is as important as global action. |
| Karj Collins | |
| Gretchen Coppedge | This is important to me because it is vital to our future generations. |
| Joanne Corbett | |
| Ryan Cox | |
| William Dalton | For the maintenance and sanctity of a livable future - in Oregon and on Earth. |
| Karla Daniel | |
| Kat Daniel | |
| Maia Daniel | |
| Bryon Daniels | Unselfishly looking to the future. |

| | |
|--------------------|--|
| Susan Dauer | |
| Kim Davis | Time is running out! |
| Catalina de Onis | |
| Ben Deumling | |
| Zoe Diacou | Addressing climate change should be considered part of our emergency management plan, as well as our response to turning around the structural racism inherent in our society. All of us do and will be affected by climate change but there is no doubt that those of us with white privilege will fare better on every level unless we are willing to face those issues directly, no matter how uncomfortable. |
| Pat Donenfeld | |
| Laurie Dougherty | Climate change is real and already disrupting natural systems and cycles that we depend on for life and livelihood and the stability of our society. Cities, including many in Oregon, are taking a leading role in taking on the challenges of climate change and in doing so finding opportunities for creating healthier, more energy and resource efficient, resilient and forward-looking places. C'mon Salem, let's join the 21st century. |
| Raymond Dukes | |
| Christian Duren | It is imperative that Salem Oregon take responsibility now to do its part to show solidarity for a better environment for future generations! It is embarrassing that other cities in Oregon that are much smaller and with less resources are standing up for this important cause which is a non-partisan issue that affects all of us. Please Salem City Council, make us proud. |
| Denise Duren | |
| Laura EagleThunder | I am thinking of the future for my grandchildren and it scares me! |
| Lee Effinger | |
| Tara Elliott | |
| Nick Eustrom | |
| Steve Evans | As a member of the transit board, it is our stated goal to work to impact local effects of climate change. Increased use of public transportation locally will reduce the impact of auto traffic on our environment. |
| Paula Fanshier | It is important to take steps at the local level. We have little control over what people in other parts of the country do and how they want to live, but we can take steps to care for our immediate environment . |
| Susan Farley | |
| Sarah Fishler Rice | |
| Lucy Foster | |
| Stephania Fregosi | A climate action plan is not just about taking steps to mitigate our impacts and educate our citizens. It also about having appropriate emergency response plans, and emergency prevention in place. |
| Esther Friedman | |
| Barbara Fuller | |

| | |
|---------------------------|---|
| Pam Gentzsch | |
| Che Gilson | Climate change is real and is potentially devastating. The time to act is NOW. |
| Raymond Goeser | |
| Meredyth Goldberg Edelson | The threat of irreversible climate change is quite real. Salem should be developing a plan to try and mitigate the effects of climate change ASAP, before it's too late. |
| Ashlie Rene Gonzales | This species and, more importantly, the rest of life on Earth requires our ability to innovate and press forward; rationally and mindfully. |
| Janet Graham | |
| Michael Grainey | I think the issue of clean energy, which directly impacts Climate Change, is very important for our future environment to help make Salem a more livable community. Also as a Salem businessperson involved in clean energy, I believe that the Salem City Council's endorsement of a Climate Action Plan will help increase the economic benefits to businesses and to individuals alike in the Salem community. |
| Doug Gray | |
| Sharon Gray | |
| Elaine Graziani | Its unimaginable that we could idly stand by and knowingly through science that we are slowly destroying our home, our planet. |
| Gregory Gregg | Recognizing the immediate need for response to the changing climate is in imperative at all levels of government. It is especially important for Oregon to make a commitment in the light of the power of climate change deniers in the Federal government. |
| Jennifer Haas | |
| Steven Hall | |
| Guy Hallman | |
| Katherine Hancock | There is nothing more important then climate change and we are very overdue for some action. |
| Karen Hansson | |
| Jo Ann Harp | Climate change is a critical issue and we need a plan to help the city do as much as possible to reduce the effects in our city and state. |
| Tamra Hart | |
| Katie Hartman | Taking action in Salem against climate change will have many positive effects on our city.... it will be more livable, enjoyable, easier to navigate, let alone better air, water, and food! Lets do this! Its all connected. |
| Tara Hathaway | |
| Cathy Heithaus | Climate change is real. We owe it to future generations to do what we can to slow global warming and it's disastrous effects. |
| Bonnie Heppner | What an opportunity for our city to be on the forefront of a movement that is important to the well-being of future generations! |
| Brian Hines | Human-caused climate change is real. It's the most serious threat facing humanity, because if our planet doesn't remain habitable for the 7.4 billion people who live on our one and only Earth, all other goals -- economic, cultural, |

| | |
|-------------------|--|
| | political -- will be impossible to attain. Since President Trump and his science-denying cronies in Congress are rolling back climate action initiatives established by the Obama administration, this makes a Salem Climate Action Plan even more important. This is a MUST , not a MAYBE , for the Salem City Council. |
| Jeremy Holman | How is this not important to EVERYONE! ??!? |
| Steven Holman | I despair that humans will do enough, fast enough, to stave off real damage to people, infrastructure and societies in general. But passive acceptance clearly will make us all complicit in what's to come. Any act of resistance is a worthwhile act. |
| Jane Hope | Future of our children and the Earth. |
| Michael Hughes | It's time to put people ahead of profits and save the planet for our children. |
| Cheryl Hummon | Climate change is the single largest threat to everything we care about. We must act now. |
| Jenniver Irving | I want the students I teach and their future children to have the best future possible . |
| Caren Jackson | It is time! We HAVE to reduce greenhouse gas emissions!! |
| Geoffery James | |
| Janita James | |
| Tim Jaskoski | There being no doubt that climate change is dramatically changing the world for the worst, it is critical that everything that can be done to stop or reverse the trend be done wherever it can. Help preserve the fantastic qualities of the state of Oregon by adopting a thoughtful and farsighted Climate Action Plan. |
| Caroll Johnson | |
| Sarah Johnston | |
| Evan Jones | The future of our species is at stake |
| Teresa Joslin | |
| Joyce Judy | |
| Teter Kapan | The Oregon my family moved to at a young age taught me the importance of balancing our place in the environment and now that is in question. Will my kids and grandkids be able to live free of the negative effects of human environmental destruction? That is what is at stake! |
| Maya Kaup | |
| Mike Kemper | |
| Madeleine Kimmich | |
| Rob Kimmich | |
| Josh Laison | |
| Stacy Lake | |
| Kirk Leonard | It is important to me that the city where I live account for its environmental impact and plan to reduce it as rapidly as possible. |
| Janet Lorenzen | A Climate Action Plan has immediate benefits (jobs, affordable housing, safer streets) and long term benefits to reduce greenhouse gases! Win-win! |
| Cheri Lovre | We have no future without it. Plain and simple and terrifying. |
| Amanda MacDowell | |

| | |
|--------------------------|--|
| Ashli Machado | |
| David MacMillan | |
| Joan Manuel | |
| Donna McCario | |
| Pam McCollum | |
| Arlene McKenna | Climate change is real and its consequences will be disastrous both economically and socially. As the state's capital, Salem needs to be a visionary leader and take action NOW to address this serious issue that faces all people on planet Earth. This is not a partisan issue and time is running out. There is no Planet B! |
| David McKenna | Because most scientists say human induced global warming is occurring and will inundate our coastlines. |
| Tricia McMahon | |
| Veronica Meidus-Heilpern | Salem, Oregon's "City of Peace," can be one of the Northwest's leaders in environmental consciousness. We are not that far from the Portland Metro area, which is definitely a leader on this issue. I urge the Salem City Council be come up with a Climate Action Plan to reduce greenhouse gas emission throughout our city and, indeed, throughout Marion and Polk Counties. |
| Melody Meierotto | |
| Kelly Mick | We need to take as much action at the local level as possible if we hope to succeed on a bigger scale. |
| H. Millard | |
| Gary Miller | |
| Jill Naughton-Lemhouse | Unless there are world-wide and coordinated efforts to reduce our carbon footprint, the world as we know it will no longer exist. |
| Mary Neuendorf | If we wait, it will be too late. |
| Rick Nobach | |
| Beverly Nodzak | |
| Melissa Nyseth | |
| Lani O'Callaghan | |
| Hollie Oakes-Miller | Climate change is our most important issue/challenge if we would like to continue living on this planet for generations to come. We have put our biosphere at risk with our carbon pollution. I have a degree in Earth Science and teach about this. We need to act now to avoid/mitigate the worst consequences of climate change. |
| Angela Obery | |
| Sandra Oliver-Poore | |
| Gary Olsen-Hasek | |
| Heather Paetsch | |
| Kathy Patterson | A Climate Action Plan is important to me because it is imperative that Salem becomes part of the solution to climate change rather than a contributor. I am particularly concerned about safeguarding birds and wildlife and a changing climate is a huge factor in their decline. |
| Alan Pennington | |

| | |
|-----------------|--|
| Nancy Pfeiler | I have worked in city and state government all my career and know how complex they are in their best form. Most operate in departments and find it difficult to see the systemic implications of their responsibilities. If the City would add this goal to the strategic plan, the process to look at all systems and activities could get going beginning with creating a base-line measurement of greenhouse gas emissions. The benefits we will see will make Salem a more vibrant and livable city. |
| Trevor Phillips | There is no Planet B (and I have kids). |
| Brandon Pike | |
| Kelsey Popovich | |
| Susan Powers | To live on a healthy planet! |
| Neil Puckett | |
| Keith Quick | |
| Ray Quisenberry | We will create jobs and save the planet at the same time. It's a no brainer. |
| Rochelle Rafn | Because the world will not support our habits as they are now. We need to implement change to make sure we can keep earth a habitable place for humans. |
| Richard Rankin | |
| Barbara Ray | Since there is no uniform national climate action plan at this point, it is up to local and state governments to be sure effective action is taken to reduce greenhouse gas emissions so we can all do our part to maintain (or restore) a livable climate. |
| Carol Reece | |
| Steve Rhine | |
| Karen Riddell | |
| R. Roaninn | |
| Jane Roberts | Because we need to do all we can to save our planet. |
| Nora Robinson | Climate change is probably the most important issue facing our planet at this time and should be a top priority for Salem! |
| Sarah Rohrs | |
| Ann Rolufs | Since the Federal government is unwilling to even admit that climate change exists, much less plan for it, it is imperative that communities design provisions to attempt to both reduce the causes and plan for the effects here locally. |
| Ron Steiner | Clean air, clean water may not allow me to live until 2080 or 2090, but I would hope that our grandchildren in Oregon get that chance. Make a plan dammit. |
| Joel Rosenblit | |
| Jim Schepcke | Portland, Eugene, Corvallis, Beaverton, Bend, Ashland, Forest Grove -- all these Oregon cities have or are working on a Climate Action Plan. It's embarrassing to me that Salem is not. For me it's a moral issue. Our great grandchildren will look back and wonder what we were thinking if we do nothing. For me this is easily as important a priority as addressing homelessness, affordable housing, better transit service, and other issues that the Council (thankfully) wants to tackle. |

| | |
|---------------------|---|
| Christine Shields | |
| Desta Sirrine | |
| Michael Slater | We need to protect our planet for future generations. |
| William Smaldone | The climate crisis is the most important challenge of our time. All communities must contribute to the reversal of current climate trends and the restoration of our damaged environment. Salem must make a concerted effort in this direction by joining other regional cities and formulating and implementing a climate action plan. |
| Cy Smith | A stitch in time saves 99. |
| Linda Snyder | |
| Jessica Space | |
| Rachael Spada | |
| Latham Stack | Climate change is already impacting Salem. City leaders need to be responsible and factor it into operations and plans. |
| Lois Stark | |
| Joan Stembridge | Our grandchildren deserve to inherit an earth that will be healthy. Climate change is real. We must find ways to protect our fragile planet. |
| Susan Sterrenberg | I want to live in a city that takes a stand on this issue. Citizens of the world need to work together on this problem and we must act now. |
| Bruce Stock | |
| Daniel Stockdale | If Climate Change will not be addressed at the federal level, we need to make a stand on the local level. Salem, like Portland & Eugene, is ready to show that Americans are ready to take action on climate change. We have to set the example! |
| Emily Stockdale | We need to take action locally. |
| Jim Stuller | |
| Susan Tanabe | As a Salem native, with six generations in the Willamette valley, I care deeply about sustainability and community! |
| Karolina Thompson | |
| Kerry Topel Fox | |
| Melanie Tozier | Clean air and water need to officially be a high priority when setting goals for the city. This makes a statement about the kind of city we want to be. |
| Jodi Trammell | |
| Friedrich Ulrich | |
| Elisabeth Underwood | |
| Robert Uplinger | Pedalbuses and trains! |
| Amy Urban | |
| Peter Urban | I have kids. |
| Michele van Pelt | We are all faced with climate change and Salem should address this. |
| Karen VanTassell | Addressing climate change is essential. Great strides can be made at the local level by being intentional about what our cities do. Salem needs to join other cities in safeguarding our environment. |
| Brian Varley | I believe we must accept climate change/ global warming as our reality and, in that acceptance, we must address it. We must plan for it. We |

|---------------------------|---|
| | must take care tomorrow for the future generations today. |
| Pamela Vasquez | |
| Kate Villwock | |
| Carol Voeller | |
| Marilyn von Foerster | It is important to the world community for a lifetime. We must solve a serious issue that will be out of control if we do not act now, starting locally. |
| Jeffrey Vrontakis | |
| Gary Wallmark | Climate change is the biggest long term issue facing our planet. Salem must both do it's part to help reduce greenhouse gases but also plan adaptations to meet the worsening local effects of climate change. Salem is the only major community in the state without a Climate Action Plan. We need one. It's time to step up. |
| Linda Wallmark | We must manage the unavoidable consequences of climate change that are already upon us and will only grow worse over time. At the same time, we must also work to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions so as to avoid the unmanageable, catastrophic consequences that we will face with a "business as usual" approach. |
| Angela Wanak | |
| Yvonne Webster | |
| Linda West | Climate change is real. We need a real plan and real solutions for today and the future. |
| Kaileigh Westermann | For the future. |
| Evan White | Let's live on this planet as if we intend to stay. |
| Sally White | Salem needs to get up to the 21st century. Climate change is real and continued urban sprawl with all the empty homes and buildings and continued "strip mall" mentality is putting our city behind the times. Developers need to provide for satellite local (emphasis on local) shops and amenities within walking distance of new community building. They should also be held to the once mandatory allotment for neighborhood schools. Many more ideas can come about with community feedback. |
| Leon Widdall | |
| Amy Williams | |
| Dolores & Rollie Wisbrock | This is a worldwide issue that will take the work of each and everyone to mitigate and to ensure the survival of humanity. |
| Kristel Wonderly | |
| Maren Wryn | While Salem is not the industrial Midwest, our choices of energy are abundant. Let's use the best of them and drop the rest. |
| Jon Yoder | |

| Roxanne Magnuson | Oregon | Oregon is a leader in long term vision, often showing others how to move forward successfully, such as with our mail-in voting. Because Salem is the capital of this fine state, we should take progressive action, be the leaders we are capable of being. We understand the value of our environment. Let's put our money where our mouth is and do the fiscally responsible thing by focusing our city planning on climate stabilization. Some of the climate change consequences are unavoidable. We should include those in our plan, too. |
